Miss Florence E. Kenah, 434 Maria street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"A few months ago I caught a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and remained there so persistently that I became alarmed. I took medicine without benefit, until my digestive organs became upset and my head and back be an to ache severely and frequently.

"I was advised to try Perun, and although I had little faith I filt so sick that I was ready to try anything. It brought me blessed relief at once, and I felt that I had the right medicine at list. Within three weeks I was completely restored and have enjoyed perfect health since.

"I now have the greatest faith in Peruna." Florence E. Kenah.

Upon the first symptoms of catching cold Peruna should be taken. It fortifies the system against colds and catarrh. Pe-ru-na for Colds and Catarrh.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used on and off for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Miss Rose Gerbing, a popular society woman of Crown Point, Ind., writes:

"Recently I took a long drive in the country, and being too thinly clad I caught a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and which I could not seem to shake off. I had heard a great deal of Peruna for colds and catarrh and I bought a bottle to try. I am pleased that I did, for it brought speedy relief. It only took about two bottles, and I consider this money well spent.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR MARCH 19.

Subject: Healing of the Man Born Blind, John ix., 1-11—Golden Text, John ix. 5—Memory Verses, 10, 11—Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

Jesus passed by." Jesus still lingered at Jerusalem, and in one of His walks, perhaps to or from a synagogue, He came to this blind man. "He saw." Jesus took notice of his affliction; looked upon him with concern. He anticipated his need. That look meant sight to the blind man. "A man." He was a beggar; it was his trade, but among all his petitions he did not ask for sight. Yet Jesus gave it. An illustration of free grace. "This man was hopeless, helpess, poor. "Blind from his birth." Of the six miracles connected with blindness which are recorded in the gospels this is the only case described as blindness from birth. In this lies its special characteristic, for since the world began it was not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind (v. 32). Blindness is very common in Palestine.

II. Jesus explains the mystery of providence (vs. 2-5). 2. "Disciples asked." The first question that arose in their minds was why this blindness existed. "Who did sin." Scripture teaches that all disease, and even death, is the fruit of sin. The Jewish error consisted in believing that all special afflictions were divine visitations for special sins. This error Jesus corrected. Mark the contrast between their thoughts and those of Jesus in reply. Repentance calls our own afflictions punishments, but Jove calls the afflictions of others trials. "This man." But how could the man sin before his birth? The doctrine of the transmigration of souls, by which the same soul is supposed to inhabit different bodies, was quite general among the Greeks and Asiatics, but there is no clear proof that this doctrine was prevalent among these Jews. On the popular supposition that special calamities are a punishment for special sins, the disciples desire to know whose sin caused this man's suffering. Was it his parents' sin or his own? If Jesus had replied his own they would have asked, How?

3. "Neither." That is, so as to be the cause of the blindness. Our Lord doce not deny the existence of sin, either in his man or in his par feeling, thereby arousing faith. Christ gave His personal attention to this case, even though His patient was a beggar. 7.

"Go." Would He new prove His faith in a stranger? Would He hesitate because of His lifelong teaching that He must not wash the eyes medicinally on the Sabbath; much less at a pool of water? Would He new do what He could? Here came the practical test, proving His faith and obedience. "Siloam." A fountain under the walls of Jerusalem toward the east, between the city and the brook Kidron. It is still to be seen, one of the few undisputed sites in Jerusalem. "By interpretation, sent." That is, "outlet of waters;" either because it was looked upon as a gift sent from God for the use of the city, or because its waters were directed or sent by canals or pipes into different quarters, for the same purpose. Some think there is an allusion to Gen. 49:10; that this fountain was a type of Shiloh, the Christ, the sent of God, and that it was to direct the man's mind to the accomplishment of that prophecy, he might find encouragement of faith in this. The pool by its very name was a type of Christ. "He went." He believed and obeyed. We frequently lose God's best gifts because we fail to act in time. "Came seeing." The cure was instantaneous.

IV. Various discussions (vs. 8-11). 8.

God's best gifts because we fall to act in time. "Came seeing." The cure was instantaneous.

IV. Various discussions (vs. 8-11). 8. "Is not this he?" There was an immediate stir among the neighbors; they noticed the great change in the man. The same is true when Christ gives spiritual eyesight. "Begged." This is the first mention of the fact that he was a beggar. He must have been well known. 9. "I am he." Jesus had met and healed the man on Friday night, at the beginning of the Sabbath, and the neighbors had not seen him go to the pool, so that on the next morning they were hardly able to believe their senses. But the man himself gave a positive testimony. 10. "How—opened." His neighbors gathered around him and asked for an explanation. Many are anxious to know how things are done, even though they have no faith. 11. "He answered." He had never seen his neighbors before, but now, looking right at them, he delivers this wonderful testimony to the power of Christ. It is short, clear, positive. "A man." First he knew Him only as "the Man" (R. V.) called Jesus, then as a prophet (v. 17), then as a Man with whom God was (vs. 31-33), then He was the Son of God (vs. 35-38).

Uses for Sand. By the sea nothing seems so common or so worthless as the sand by the shore. But in other situations sand is of great use. The farmer or gardener by mixing it with stiff clay makes the latter better suited for crops or plants. The marble cutter uses it for poli hing. Floors are scoured with it, and sandpaper has a variety of uses. It has even been said that grocers have mixed it with their sugar. Mixed with ashes and other things and exposed to great heat, it forms glass, not only the commoner or coarser kind, of which common bottles are made, but also the finest crystal and Venetian of which ornaments and vessels fitted for monarchs and millionaires are shaped. marvelously successful it is.

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so called remedies for kidney troubles. Lydia E.
